J. R. WOOD & SON

Lloyd Valley Items.

[Correspondence]

We are having some very fine weather, and every farmer is busy in the field.

Several Lloyd Valley farmers attended court at Tucumcari Saturday.

Homeseekers keep coming and new houses are going up everywhere.

J. T. Whittington is building a blacksmith shop.

Our school is moving along in fine style.

Jackson Brothers have moved their well drill out of the Valley. Kelsay & Erwin are digging a well for Scott northwest of Lloyd.

Our merchant is getting a fine trade.

T. E. Morris butchered a fine porker Saturday.

Clyde Allen has had several barrels of apples and potatoes shipped from his old home in Michigan which will add greatly to the family comfort these long winter evenings.

PLOW BOY.

San Jon Items

W. Canno's little girl, five years old, is very sick. They are at Mr Doran's.

Mr. Duniphan has just returned from Amarilla with a load of materials.

D. Douglas has a friend visiting him from Illinois.

B. Robison and his father caught the man the other morning about five o'clock who has been stealing their canned fruit and made him pay for and replace every thing and then made him stay and eat breakfast with them. He was a Mexican.

Mac Horn is making his second trip to Tucumcari for supplies for the store.

There is some talk of a railroad coming through here.

Pleasant Valley Breezes

[Correspondence]

Just in but have lit in the garden spot of the world and have come to stay.

We are having a busy time this week.

T. J. Reed has moved to his homestead southwest of San Jon.

T. Sheldon, the San Jon blacksmith, will move his family to San Jon in the near future. He will build a new residence on north main street.

Henry Moore is completing his large dam across San Jon creek. He will have an abundant water supply for his herd of cattle.

It is rumored that Charles Miller of London, England, has purchased Warren Rue's relinquishment and will make his future home in this country.

L. W. Barret of this vicinity has just finished a one and a half story frame house for Walter Davis. Mr. Davis is an energetic young farmer and is one of the kind that uses the expression "I have come to stay;" just the kind we need on every quarter section.

Mrs. J. H. Kenedy is visiting her daughter, Miss Clara, in Tucumcari.

Jas. Northcott has completed his residence and his family have arrived from Chillicothe, Texas.

Mrs. Tom Stults has been quite sick but is improving.

Parish Haynes and J. Ballard and their families have arrived from Afton, I. T., and are well pleased with the country.

Sunday was the regular church day and a large crowd was in attendance. We need a larger house to accommodate the people as a large part of the congregation had to remain out of doors.

This country is filling up rapidly; emigrants are coming every day both overland and by rail. Let the good work go on.

Farmers of this vicinity are busy plowing and preparing for spring planting.

A. J. Craig failed to get water at a depth of 38 feet in a second well.

Married at the court house on the 19th inst. G. H. Hallett and Miss Dora Prather, Rev. Milton Reece officiating, and on the 21st Victoriano Arguello and Miss Helena Rodreges.
